Makes about 4 bath bombs

Directions:

1. To make the jelly bean soap topping, melt the soap base and divide into small cups to create multiple colors. Add liquid dyes or micas to each cup and stir well to blend the colorants. Pour melted soap into jelly bean soap molds (or other tiny soap or candy molds). Allow to cool and harden completely before removing from molds.
2. To make the base, mix the baking soda, whole milk powder, arrowroot powder, and avocado mica in a large bowl. In a second bowl, combine the apricot kernel oil, witch hazel, and plant-based fragrance oil. Whisk the liquids vigorously, then add them slowly to the dry ingredients as you continuously stir the mixture. Add the citric acid, and give the mixture one last really thorough mix. Pack the mixture tightly into silicone cupcake liners or paper nut cups.
3. To make the topping, combine the baking soda, citric acid, and cream of tartar in a mixing bowl and whisk together. In a second bowl, combine melted butters, aloe vera oil, and plant-based fragrance oil. Add the liquids slowly to the dry ingredients as you continuously stir the mixture. Work quickly as the butters will cool and harden before very long. Immediately transfer the mixture to pastry bag fitted with a large star tip. Pipe the mixture onto the top of the cupcake bases, then top with jelly bean soaps.
4. Allow the bath bombs to dry until they are completely hardened. 24 hours should be plenty. Be sure to dry your bath bombs in a cool, dry place as humidity can prolong the drying process.
